

RETAIL TRADE AND SERVICES RENDERED TO HOUSEHOLDS

The section covers statistics characterizing the activity of retail trade enterprises and the services rendered to population.

Retail trade turnover is the value of consumer goods sold to population by cash for individual consumption or for household's use.

The indicator of retail trade turnover is based on turnover implemented through magazines, kiosks, consumer goods markets, agricultural goods markets and other trade establishments.

Scope of services rendered to households represents the amount of payments received by producers either directly from households or from enterprises (organizations) in return for services rendered.

Services rendered to households cover: personal, passenger transport, communications, housing and communal, pre-school and school education, culture, tourism, physical culture and sports, medical, sanatorium, legal, banking and other services. Recording of paid services of all type is implemented by the size of factual payment of population at the moment of rendering (irrespective of payment form).
